

Memorandum of Understanding NATIONS and the BC Craft Farmers Coop

December 10, 2020

Shared Values and Guiding Principles

- It is agreed by both parties, that the intent of this MOU is to codify a long-term mutually beneficial relationship that goes beyond a traditional transactional-based relationship.
- NATIONS is an Indigenous Company and therefore all decisions are made through an Indigenous Economic perspective in which profits, values, ethics, community and partnerships take equal precedence; our Mission, Vision and Values guide our practice.
- BC Craft Farmers Co-Op (BCCFC) operates under the BC Cooperatives Act by BC micro-cultivators, processors and independent retailers. BCCFC's mission is to help facilitate and effective transition for members to the new legal marketplace, maintain BC's position as an international cannabis leader and provide consumers with the best quality cannabis.
- The two organizations respect and support each other's Mission, Vision and Values. NATIONS will leverage their Indigenous Brand politically, socially and economically, where the Mission, Vision and Values are not compromised.
- NATIONS believes that in collaboration with BCCFC, a stronger alliance can be formed that will mutually benefit our mandates and goals.
- BCCFC wishes to include Indigenous aspects to its mandate, mission and vision, and both parties will mutually benefit from joint promotion, advocacy and communications.

WHEREAS, NATIONS Cannabis, (NATIONS) and The BC Craft Farmers Coop (BCCFC) have come together for the purpose of codifying a Partnership to establish:

1. Public and political advocacy agenda to get more BC craft famers into the regulated or legal system starting as soon as possible - as suggested in BCCFC's federal/provincial proposal - to support BC's economic recovery.
2. Collaboration in the sourcing of land-use solutions that could facilitate micro-production on First Nation land through the establishment of mutually beneficial Limited Partnerships agreements.
3. Public and political support advocacy of each other's brand, mission and vision.
4. Joint strategic communication and marketing initiatives to provide additional positive coverage and results.
5. Development of a processing partnership to help ensure BC craft famers have reliable access to quality processing services.
6. Development of supply agreements with individual growers for a fair, market value product.
7. In association the BCCFC Quality Standards Committee, collaboration to development quality micro-production standards, techniques and training programs that ensure consumers in BC, across Canada and around the world have access to best quality cannabis.

I) Development of the Master Agreement

Over the coming year, both parties will work together to develop a Master Agreement that will define the relationship between NATIONS and BCCFC in the pursuit of joint participation in the transference and operational support of current MPR growers in the quest to move to a regulated system.

II) Timeline and Next Steps

1. Monthly strategic planning meetings to begin within 30 days of agreement.
2. Joint outreach to new BC government post-election re: economic development and recovery.
3. Outreach to other BC Indigenous leaders and potential partners.
4. Co-ordinate participation in federal policy review process re: regulatory innovation.
5. Appoint Nations representative to Board of Directors Quality Standards Committee.
6. Development of land-use and limited partnership model/template.
7. Additional partnerships to be announced and developed over the coming year.
8. Complete Master Agreement
